IV. DISCUSSION OF OPPORTUNITIES FOR DESIGN/BUILD APPROACH TO HCNC PROJECT

The main discussion revolved around looking at the pros and cons between moving forward with a design/build approach, or going out to bid for construction of HCNC.

Design/Build

PRO
- Requires less FOD management/staff time
- Builder is available during final design of documents and FOD will have input on early decisions
- Able to do pricing/costs sooner
- A design/build contractor can provide estimates and a sub contract report
- FOD could request specific sub contractors
- FOD gets to design the contract
- FOD can ask for the ability to have continuous bids as contract moves forward
- Will give the FOD building committee needed information sooner

CON
- FOD has less control/input of who is being contracted

Going to Bid

PRO
- More staff control of who is contracted
- Low cost

CON
- More staff time for oversight
- Bidder could find holes in design and later raise costs

Kash Boodjeh, architect for the HCNC project, says he will be involved in the construction process which ever direction FOD chooses to proceed. Kash will be putting a full set of plans together that will work with build/design or bid.

The board agrees that we should start doing homework and to evaluate contractors we are interested in. Some names that were mentioned were David Kitchen, Steve Bohner, Alchemy Construction, Vander Moulin, and Mayan.

Mike Wilson motioned to move forward with the Design/Build process and have the building committee start the process of selecting a contractor for a design/build project by first soliciting qualifications from three to four contractors, using a request for qualifications letter created by himself and Carol and then have the building committee make a recommendation to the board based on qualifications at the June Board meeting. 2nd from Jacqueline. Eight were in favor, Larry Oetker was in decent, noting his view that the original AIA contract stated that we would go out to bid for a contractor.

V. APPROVE RESOLUTIONS RESOLUTION 08-01 AND 08-02 AUTHORIZING FRIENDS OF THE DUNES TO ENTER INTO A GRANT AGREEMENT WITH WILDLIFE CONSERVATION BOARD FOR FUNDS TO PURCHASE THE WATSON AND BACHOFER PROPERTY.

Correction to the 08-01 contract: The grant should be up to $360,000.
